

Hymn 95

(nr. 28 in selectiebundel)

The chart displays two staves of musical notation. Each staff consists of a series of vertical lines, some of which have small circles placed on them. The left staff has horizontal dashed lines at the top and bottom, with the number '1' at the top and '2' below it. The right staff has similar horizontal dashed lines with the number '1' at the top and '2' below it. The lyrics are written vertically between the staves, aligned with the corresponding notes.

And did the Holy and the Just,
The So-vereign of the skies,

Stoop down to wretched-ness and dust,
That guil-ty worms
might rise?